With today's technology and video surveillance, there are numerous computer-savvy professionals and innovative programs to aid in developing digital information on unknown suspects. What is needed is for people trained in facial identification to make the mug-to-mug, mug-to-surveillance, and surveillance-to-surveillance matches. This intensive, 40-hour course will introduce the visual information specialist to the biometric world as an interface that will aid in leading to identification.

Course Content:

- Survey of available programs and professionals
- Composite-to-mug, and mug-to-composite identifications.
- Mug-to-mug identifications.
- Surveillance-to-mug, and mug-to-surveillance identifications.
- Surveillance-to-surveillance identifications.
- Image modification: the effects of Methamphetamine on faces.
